FOREWORD...

Stretching endlessly along the shores of eternity lie the sands of time. Great men have walked these shores and have left firmly embedded footprints. It is for each man to make his mark as well as he is able. For regardless how small, how insignificant he may think himself, his presence on the sand will be everlastingly imprinted.

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time."

TIME SPENT BEHIND THE SCENES

"Look! The lights are on in the school tonight. Wonder what's going on?"

"Probably the Board is having a meeting."

"The Board! I have often heard it mentioned, just what is it? What does it do, anyway?"

Several times a month The Board of Education, a group of six chosen by the community, gathers in the school to plot its course and guide it in making its "footprints on the sands of time." Allen B. Gates, Board president, supervises its activities. Planning the school budget is one of its important jobs. Prospective teachers are interviewed, discussed, engaged or rejected, and contracts are written.

The Board also fills the positions of school maintenance crews—janitors, cleaning women, bus drivers. Supplies and equipment are secured. Appropriations for all needs are debated, decided upon, and expenditures made. This year especial work was necessary in organizing and supervising the inaugural operation of the new high school building. New courses in Home Economics and Industrial Arts were provided for.

This great amount of time and energy is all donated by the Board, for its members serve the community without material compensation.

AS THE TWIG IS BENT THE TREE'S INCLINED

Since it is in the elementary grades that the foundations for all future education are laid, it is right that recognition of our grade school be included in our yearbook. A trip through the Elmwood Avenue building on a typical school day gives a cross-section of the kind of work done there.

In the kindergarten a toy store has been set up and five-year-olds are buying and selling with zeal and earnestness. In one of the primary grades the children sit in a group around the teacher, reading from gay-covered books; in another, a tiny boy stands before a class and tells about a book he has read; in still another, the children are listening intently to a "School of the Air" program.

In one of the intermediate grades (fourth, fifth, and sixth) the music teacher is conducting a lesson; in another, an informal, student-conducted debate is in progress; another class is in the auditorium watching a student-written and student-directed play; and another class is in the gymnasium for games.

One seventh grade is in the library; a few girls are in the Home Economics room; and some boys are working in the Industrial Arts room; the grade school band is practicing enthusiastically; and a science class is experimenting with an electromagnet.

If you liked the Senior Ball, or Class Day, or Commencement, you have these individuals to thank. Appointing the committees, seeing that the work was done, they were our officers and advisers. From the tussle of organizing the class in September to the hush of commencement, they served us well.

The officers were President Robert Beach, Vice-President Robert Valentine, Secretary Ruth Toporcer, and Treasurer Donald Vair. Mrs. Norma Fox, Miss Ruth Shattuck, Miss Marian Perrin, and John Reed acted as advisers.

THE HANDS THAT MANIPULATE THE CLOCKWORK

AUBREY D. DONLEY

Aubrey D. Donley, Superintendent of Brighton Schools No. 1, is indeed the one who keeps the intricate machinery of our school running. With the assistance of Gordon Allen in the high school and Mrs. Christine Hobson in the grade school, he organizes and directs the manifold activities of school routine. He is in charge of the teachers, the janitorial staff, the expenditures of the budgets, assemblies, the school correspondence and the ordering of supplies and equipment. Like the main spring of a clock, he is the essential factor in keeping the wheels of Brighton running smoothly.

The center of the school's activity is the office. Making the clock go "bong bong" and delivering absent slips are the more obvious duties of the office staff, Mrs. Helen Yawman and Miss Elizabeth Mansfield. They operate the telephone switchboard, take messages, and arrange appointments. They also greet the teachers who must report to the office once a day and the students who come to consult about courses, colleges, excuses, and extra-curricular activities.

"STOP THE PRESSES,

Shattering traditions right and left, the 1940-41 "Trapezoid," under the ambitious leadership of Allan Hovey, Editor, with Betty Lou Hartman and George Werner, completed its sixth consecutive year. The changes included abandoning the six page, four column paper for a streamlined four page, five column publication, the adoption of a new nameplate, a smaller masthead, a "Letters to the Editor" column, and several new features, among which was Allan Hovey's "Corn on the Column" of state wide recognition. A new system of locker distribution was inaugurated.

The Empire State Scholastic Press Association Conference in Syracuse, November 8 and 9, saw seven members of the "Trapezoid" staff and Miss Alice Foley, adviser, in attendance. The program included addresses, discussions on various phases of journalistic work, a banquet at which the awards were made, and the Syracuse-Penn State football game. The chief addresses were given by Dr. Herbert Agar, renowned columnist and Pulitzer Prize winner, and globe-trotting newspaperman Don Bate. Returning triumphantly from this very entertaining as well as educational week-end were Allan Hovey with the State Editorial Trophy and Barbara Smith, feature editor, with the State Feature Writing Cup. A superior rating was, for the second time, awarded to the "Trapezoid." Jacqueline Taylor received honorable mention for her news story.

In the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, a national organization, the "Trapezoid" raised itself from a third to a second place rating. The National Scholastic Press Association awarded the paper a first class rating. An All-American rating was missed by five points. This is the first year that the "Trapezoid" has been a member of this association.

The Genesee Valley Scholastic Press Association conducted its annual conference at Brighton, April 26. Representatives from seventeen neighboring schools were present for a day of speeches, discussions, lunch, a movie, a play, and awards. Highlight of the program was an address by Captain William Haskell, assistant to the president of the New York Herald Tribune. As the awards were announced, an overjoyed "Trapezoid" staff heard its publication receive first places in make up, feature material, and general excellence, and runner-up awards in news stories and sports.

TIME, CAUGHT AND RECORDED

Seeking to better the record of last year's "Crossroads" staff, this year's staff headed by Editor-in-Chief Betty Lou Hartman and associate editors Ann O'Brien, Barbara Smith and George Werner, began work early in November. Alexander Beebee, business manager, and Raymond Updaw and Bernice Schneider, the circulation department, raised the funds.

The staff selected for the theme, time—"the inexplicable aw material of everything." They hope they have caught and recorded the school activities for 1941.

"THAT'S A GOOD ONE!"

COUNCIL CONVENES

REPRESENTATION RULES OUR NATION

The Student Council's accomplishments ranged from its annual dance (incidentally it was the most successful council dance in many a year) to arranging for soap to be put in the locker rooms. They also arranged for dancing after basketball games, standardized letter awards in sports, bulletin boards and busses for out-of-town basketball games.

The officers were Harry Smith, President; Allan Hovey, Vice-President; Bob Lincoln, Treasurer; Sue Cooper, Secretary.

I HEAR A RHAPSODY

Four main divisions—senior band, swing band, girls' chorus, and mixed chorus— comprise the high school's music department under the direction of James Cahill. The senior band, composed of forty members, marched and played during the football and basketball games. It also took part in the Monroe County Festival at East Rochester, May 3. The swing band, consisting of twelve members and two girl soloists, made its debut following the last basketball game. This year for the first time letters were awarded to band members on the basis of merit.

Consisting of thirty-seven voices, the girls' chorus appeared at a tea at Christmas time, sang Christmas carols over the school Public Address system, and took part in the County Music Festival at Hilton, March 22. The girls' chorus and the senior band presented their annual spring concert May 16. The mixed chorus serves as a training group and contains twenty members.

This spring, to stimulate interest in better music, records were played over the Public Address system throughout the school.

The grade school band, consisting of approximately fifty pieces, and the grade chorus presented a concert in the spring for the grade school.

ART IS LONG; TIME IS FLEETING

Coasters from cork, patio strings from paper mache, necklaces from seeds, pits, and pine cones, and bracelets from macaroni are among the things the Art Club members have created this year.

Under the direction of President Marianne Goossens, Vice-President Eudora Knapp, Secretary-Treasurer Patricia Latimer, and Adviser Mrs. Hermia Railing, the Club had an exhibit of their work April 7. A trip to the Memorial Art Gallery and a June picnic culminated the year's activities.

ACT IN THE LIVING PRESENT

At the various meetings, the Dramatic Club Council and the members of each class presented a play, of which two, the Freshmen and the Sophomore, were student directed. Mrs. Robert Stevens, wife of the director of the Community Players, lectured about the stage at another meeting.

The Senior Play, an assembly play, and a presentation at the Genesee Valley Scholastic Press Conference were lively entertainment. President Alexander Beebee, Vice-President Ann O'Brien, Secretary Cora Parce, and Treasurer Barbara Smith were the officers.

BOOKS—THE KEY TO KNOWLEDGE

Aiming at a thorough acquaintanceship with the mechanics of book service, the members of the Library Club assist Miss Ethel Regin, school librarian, a specified time each week during the year. Among the club meetings this year were a conducted trip through the Rundel Library, a Christmas party, a talk on new books by Miss Eleanor Kidder, director of the Young Peoples' Room at Rundel, a joint meeting with the Webster Library Club, and the final picnic.

Officers of the club were Betsey Gillette, President; Joyce White, Vice-President; and Ruth Clark, Secretary-Treasurer.

WHILE I SPEAK, THE HOURS FLY

To give its members an increased knowledge of current problems, the Forum, under the leadership of President Paul Zaenglein, Vice-President Ellen Beers, Secretary Ann O'Brien, Treasurer John Scobell, and Advisers Miss Ruth Shattuck, John Reed, and Robert Hynes, has instituted a program which included panel discussions, outside speakers, quiz programs, and two informal social meetings.

In the spring the Forum sponsored a panel discussion for an assembly program, and also sent Cora Parce, Barbara Smith, Allan Hovey, and Jerry Hart to represent the Club at the Syracuse Student Congress.

EXPERIMENTER TODAY - SCIENTIST TOMORROW

Now a member of the American Institute of Science and Engineering Clubs, the Science Club, under the supervision of David Reamer and Cassius Conner, has just completed its fourth year. This year's officers were Donald Kimball, President; Paul Whitcomb, Vice-President; and Donald Sayles, Secretary-Treasurer.

Club activities included projects for scientific exhibits, talks by members and outside speakers. Guest speakers this year were Richard Close and David Van Horn, both from the University of Rochester.

WHAT'S COOKING?

DARK ROOM DEVOTEES

PICTURES - TIME STANDING STILL

Taking good pictures is more involved than clicking the shutter, as any Camera Club member knows. Besides developing film in the new dark room and using senior girls as photographic models, the Club discussed at various meetings the Eastman Kodak Company, the comparison of colors in photography, and the composition of movies.

The officers of the club were Stanley Wolfson, President; Arthur Couch, Vice-President; Albert Perry, Secretary; Gertrude Ackerman, Treasurer; and Miss Marian Perrin, Adviser.

LES VOILA!

ICI, ON PARLE FRANÇAIS

Les membres du cercle français qui veulent surtout se perfectionner en français, ne parlent que le français à leurs réunions mensuelles. La présidente, Ann O'Brien, aidée par la vice-présidente, Emma Jane Schutt, le sécretaire, Paul Basye, et le trésorier, Richard Groninger, se charge des réunions.

Pendant cette année on s'est amusé à donner des pièces françaises, à jouer aux mots croisés, à chanter des chansons françaises, à entendre parler des coutumes des Français, et à preparer une fête pour montrer aux parents et aux hôtes des étudiants les projets des classes de français.

HEALTH IS WEALTH

At their meetings once a month the thirty members of the Health Club had lectures on practical home nursing, educational slides on health, and social meetings. Under President De Lois Taylor, Secretary Louise Haskins, and Treasurer Joyce White, a trip to the Visiting Nurses' Association of Rochester, work in the clinic one period every two weeks, assisting at the tuberculosis inoculations, and filing the cards and attendance slips helped the girls to learn about health in a practical way.

STAMPS-THE WORLD AT A GLANCE

Promoting interest in the study of stamps and collections is the aim of the Stamp Club headed by Russ Bouton, President; Lois Cornwell, Vice-President; and Peter Willems, Secretary.

Meetings this year included a talk about English stamps by Frank Langston, an English boy, a speech on pre-cancels by Peter Willems, Russ Bouton's discussion of the history of the post office, and a stamp quiz. An auction April 7 and an exhibit in May concluded the year's program.

BRIGHTON GRIDMEN STAGE "ALL

Brighton's football team showed a marked improvement this year over the preceding year with two decisive victories in one league and one non-league match.

The high-spirited team marched over Clyde by 20-7 and followed the win the next week with a 14-13 victory against Fairport. East Rochester, Irondequoit, and Webster rallied in the next three league games to defeat Brighton.

Captain Jim Newman and Johnny Evans received awards on the All-County team, while Dave Basye and Bob Stoll captured positions on the second team.

-OUT" WARFARE ON OPPONENTS

Losses inflicted through graduation are Jim Newman, Alexander Beebee, Johnny Evans, Werner Spitz, Jack St. John, and Harry Smith. Despite this loss, the return of a host of letter men brightens the picture for the coming season. The team was branded with a "successful" season under the able leadership and careful supervision of Coach "Lenny" Smith.

SOCCER SQUAD MAKES DEBUT

Brighton inaugurated interscholastic soccer last fall as a member of the Monroe County Soccer League. The Brighton booters played a full schedule of "A" and "B" league games.

The team started the season inauspiciously with a defeat at the hands of Pittsford, a member of the "B" league. The home pitchmen won our first "A" league game with Spencerport. Then a series of ties was broken by a defeat by Spencerport in a return match. In a practice game Brighton beat West High, and the season closed with a defeat by Brockport.

Jim Smith and Robert Hynes coached the soccer squad which took second place in the "A" league. Out of twenty-one squad members ten were seniors who will leave vacant places on next year's squad. The coaches were gratified by the students' response to soccer this year and believe that its popular acceptance is assured.

BATTER UP! BASEBALL'S HERE

As the "Crossroads" goes to press little is known of the strength of this year's baseball squad. The return of a score of lettermen has made a nucleus for the new players to be built around, and the experience of these men will be a standard for which the rookies are expected to aspire.

This year's team is under the guidance of Coach Leonard Smith whose iron hand is fast molding the candidates into a hard-fighting and hard-hitting team.

Brighton's first game was a defeat at Irondequoit, April 29, with a score of 16 to 11. With the event of an early summer at hand practice has been regular, and the team is prepared to wade through its remaining battles with a good deal of confidence.

Coach Smith expects a successful season for the squad who chose as its captain, David Hubbell.

A spirited and driving team, led by Captain "Red" Summers, forced its way to the top and fell to second place only after defeating the champions twice. Bob Lincoln gained first team All-County laurels while Harry Smith was on the second team. The loss of these two

CINDERMEN FIGHT TIME AND SPACE

Track, a comparatively recent comer to the sports scene at Brighton, has proved one of the most popular sports. This year's squad contained ten letter men from the 1940 season with but a loss of three field men.

Heading the group of which opponents were most fearful was Ken Wilber, Brighton's 440 winner who took the sectionals at the University of Rochester in his junior year. Also prominent were Ray DeVisser in the 880 and Bob Bullock in the dashes, John Neel in the 100 yard dash and 880 relay, Bob Collins in the mile and Jim Courtice in the hurdles. In the field events Bob Beach and Jack St. John were back in the pole vault as were Stan Wolfson and Paul Zaenglein in the broad jump and high jump respectively.

Again this year Ross Smith was coaching the field men while Elswood Hill was handling the runners.

Bob Valentine stood out in a team which also included Don Kimball, David Lull, Al Hovey, George Darrow, and Herb Englehardt.

NOTHGIRBS TAKE BASKETBALL CROWN

Intramural basketball has been a keenly contested sport in Brighton during the winter months. Participants this year were organized into two leagues. The Nothgirbs captured the "A" league Championship and Aces the "B" league title.

In a play-off with the top East Rochester intramural quint, the Nothgirbs won, 29-21.

HI-Y WINS VOLLEY BALL FINALS

Taking its place among the intramural sports comprising Brighton's program for athletic participation for all, volley ball has occupied the transitional period from winter sports to spring sports. The teams were organized into four leagues which had play-offs and a "World Series," won by the Hi-Y team.

BRIGHTON TEAMS' MORAL SUPPORT

In upholding Brighton's honor on the field of athletic combat, the psychological factor has been important. Our vocal backing has been directed by the popularly elected cheerleaders. Brighton's cheerleaders have even won applause from their opponents for their unique vocal variations.

TEAM BUILDERS

A well co-ordinated and ever-growing staff of athletic coaches under Ross H. Smith has conducted a full program this year in accordance with the general aims of the state's Health and Physical Education Department.

Mr. Smith, who supervised the entire program, has had personal charge of all the intramural activities, as well as varsity basketball, swimming, and spring field events.

Making his debut here last September, Leonard Smith was recruited to coach football and turned in Brighton's best win-lose record in many a year. Mr. Smith was also mentor for varsity baseball.

Last fall Robert Hynes coached Brighton's first inter-scholastic soccer team. Elswood Hill was again in charge of track activities, while John Reed assisted in basketball and coached tennis.

LET'S PLAY THE GAME

In accordance with its aim—the fullest possible development of every high school girl—the girls' sports department, headed by Miss Margaret Karges, offered again this year a wide variety of sports.

"PINKY" PALMER, MISS KARGES (ADVISER), MARGERY SCOTT

"Pinky" Palmer's team trotted off the field as soccer champs, while Margery Scott's team won the volley ball tournament. In the basketball spotlight, the juniors retained their three year championship by copping the class basketball contest. The year-round Hiking Club and exercise group were augmented by a newly-formed tumbling class. Featured during the spring season were archery, baseball, and badminton.

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of '41, having accumulated quite a store of wealth, mental and material, while spending our alloted time at dear Alma Mater do hereby bequeath the following:

Cora Parce leaves her continuous knitting at basketball games to Jean Elden.

If Jerry Hart had an airplane he wouldn't leave it anyway, so why discuss it?

George Hart leaves his knowledge of astronomy to anyone who can master it. (That's a safe bequest.)

Betsy Gillette leaves the ancient Aztecs where she found them.

Ray Lansbery leaves his ducks.

Bob Mosher leaves the echoes of his lusty cheers to Johnny Giles.

Virginia Whitcraft leaves her lost articles to anyone who can locate them.

Count Basye leaves his chain twirling to brother Dave.

Bob Beach leaves a rather worn pair of spiked shoes and a shattered cross bar to next year's aspirants.

XBB leaves Mr. Allen one public address system slightly the worse for wear.

Tom Brigham leaves several Lindbergh clippings to Mr. Reed.

The "Trapezoid" columnists leave the new staff the prospect of facing the year without Mr. Reed's car.

Bill Murray leaves the title of chief drug store cowboy to Warren Shaddock.

Bob Cohen leaves the science and math courses to anyone who can think up as many screwy theories and questions as he.

Farmer leaves Miss Young the prospect of many years of peace.

Brigham, Danford, and Fuller leave their pants peddling to junior partner Lempert.

Herman leaves an open challenge to anyone to an argument about Willkie, Lindbergh, the New Deal, or about practically anything or anyone.

Hov and Hub leave their harmonizing to next year's lunchroom chorus.

Marty leaves two big paws and a basketball to anyone who can co-ordinate them for the necessary points.

To next year's stage manager, John Neel and George Werner leave a complicated switchboard, several sand bags, and a new doorway for the stage set.

Ken Wilber leaves 440 yards of cinders to anyone who can cover them as fast as he can.

Bernie Schneider leaves two dizzy batons to Pat Johnson.

Harry Smith leaves a sports record as a goal to any prospective three lettermen.

To Don Kimball well-churned Y. M. C. A. and U. of R. pools are left by Bob Valentine.

Orson leaves an unruly mop of slightly auburn hair to his memory.

Barbara Smith leaves a few unnecessary brains to anyone who can figure out how she consistently pulls down five A's.

Porky leaves her gurgling giggles to Dot.

Thinking it over, however, we, the Class of '41, can't afford to leave much of anything, so we'll just leave.
